

NOTICEBOARD | CENTRAL OTAGO DISTRICT COUNCIL

5 September 2024

Shaping Central Otago's Economic Future

Central Otago people are getting a once in a decade opportunity to influence the direction of the district's economic future.

You can have your input at a series of public workshops and online at Let's Talk.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT STRATEGY

What is economic development?

Economic development is about lifting the standard of living for our community through influencing economic growth to improve social, environmental and cultural well-being by providing jobs, sufficient incomes, and the resources required to achieve a healthy standard of living and quality of life.

What is an economic development strategy?

The strategy will outline the steps that the CODC will take to see greater outcomes for our economy and ultimately our communities.

It maps a pathway forward and identifies the key partners the Council needs to work alongside, to move towards a common goal. Harnessing growth for the good of everyone while maintaining what is unique about the Central Otago district will be a challenge, and needs community input. Here's some examples of some goals that may be achieved with the new economic development strategy:

- Improving connectivity (transport/technology) and infrastructure
- Creating an environment that is business friendly
- Protecting and enhancing the landscape and environment
- Supporting diversity of age, skills and employment opportunities
- Increasing prosperity and wellbeing across the district
- Supporting industry and sector-specific goals.

How can I get involved?

You can go to Let's Talk: <https://lets-talk.codc.govt.nz/shaping-central-otago-s-economic-future> to give feedback, and register for the workshops. You can also email CODC Economic Development Manager Nick Lanham: nick.lanham@codc.govt.nz
